He is himself a vocalist and especially in his revival work has found this accomplishment most helpful. He owns property in Hertford, Weldon and Charlotte. William Jones Rankin Since the beginning of religious work among the American Negroes, it has been the policy of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. to keep its educational and religious work going along together. This has resulted in intelligent leadership and in the establishment of a number of parochial schools, which, through the years, have stood for what is best in Negro education and have been feeders for the colleges and universities. Rev. William Jones Rankin, A. B., S. T. B., is one of the capable Presbyterian men who has devoted the best years of his life to the task of religious and educational leadership. His work at Aberdeen is recognized as being of a high type. Mr. Rankin was born at Elmwood in Iredell Co. on July 1, 1862, which was in the midst of the war, that was destined to bring freedom to him and to his people. His father, Mitchell Rankin, was a farmer and his mother's maiden name Isabelle Gillespie, a daughter of Thomas and Matilda Gillespie. The boy grew up on the farm and started his schooling at Elmwood. He attracted the attention of his pastor who later moved to Salisbury. Young Rankin then went to Salisbury and attended a parochial school there for two years. He did his preparatory work at Biddle University and his College and Theological courses were pursued at Lincoln University, from which he was graduated with the A. B. degree in 1889. Three years later he completed the Theological Course with the S. T. B. degree. He...
