IP Factly presents... "101 Facts... CATS!"

Amazing facts, photos and video links to the world's best loved pet.

Cat books for kids - a fun and fascinating way for young readers to discover more about cats.

This cat book for kindle mixes facts, photos and even includes a video clip section.

IP Factly's 101 Facts series has been designed to encourage and bolster independent reading.

Accompanying webpage with video clips

This book provides fact after fact for information hungry children to tell family and friends, and even has an accompanying webpage with video clips of some of the cats in the book.

The videos are split into cute and funny sections.

The video links mean children come back again and again, naturally developing their reading and learning skills (early kindle models don't support video but the safe website link is given).

Fascinating Facts Include...

Apart from lions, domestic cats are the only cats known to live in groups.

The African wildcat, which still thrives today in North Africa and parts of the Arabian Peninsula, was the ancestor of all of today's domestic cats.

A cat's tongue is covered by tiny hook-like bristles called papillae. Even big cats have tongues like this, but they use them primarily for ripping the flesh of prey, while domestic cats use it mainly for grooming.

Cats are obligate carnivores. This means they must eat meat. A cat's intestines are especially made for a meat diet, which is why they have a hard time digesting fruits and vegetables, especially those rich in carbohydrates.

Cats are good at picking up high-pitched sounds – up to 64 kHz. That's six octaves higher than the human range and even one octave higher than a dog's.
